OESCHGER CENTRE
CLIMATE CHANGE RESEARCH

Oeschger Centre, Falkenplatz 16, CH-3012 Bern

February 2017

The Oeschger Centre for Climate Change Research of the University of Bern invites applications for a full-time

Lecturer (Oberassistent) in empirical Economics of Climate Change (4 years)

We seek a young enthusiastic scholar who is eager to enhance the international research profile of the Oeschger Centre http://www.oeschger.unibe.ch/ in the field of Economics of Climate Change (sensu lato) and to take advantage of the vibrant interdisciplinary climate research environment at the University of Bern.

The successful candidate holds a PhD in Economics (or related discipline) and has a demonstrated research record in the Economics of Climate Change, e.g. mitigation/adaptation research, economic assessment of climate change impacts, behavioral economics, political economy or similar. Strong preference is given to empirical, experimental and/or applied research in an interdisciplinary context.

The candidate is expected to develop an independent research program with national and international collaborations, teach and supervise at the Graduate School of Climate Sciences (MSc and PhD level), seek for extramural funding, and collaborate with the research community of the Oeschger Centre for Climate Change Research.

The position is offered for 4 years with an evaluation after 2 years. Latest starting date is 1st September 2017. The University of Bern is an equal opportunity employer. Women are strongly encouraged to apply.

Review of applications starts on April 6, 2017 (deadline) and continues until the position is filled.

Please direct informal inquiries to Prof. Martin Grosjean (Director of the Oeschger Centre, martin.grosjean@oeschger.unibe.ch) or to Prof. Ralph Winkler (Environmental and Climate Economics, ralph.winkler@vwi.unibe.ch).

Applications (ONE pdf file including letter of motivation, complete CV, 1-page research statement, addresses of three referees) should be sent to Prof. Dr. Martin Grosjean, OCCR, University of Bern; Switzerland; martin.grosjean@oeschger.unibe.ch; Tel: + 41 31 631 31 47.
