Ph.D. Position in Macroeconomics

The Department of Economics at the University of Bern seeks to fill a vacant position for Doctoral Student in macroeconomics.

Your position
The successful candidate will participate in the teaching and research activities of the macroeconomics and economics group of the Department of Economics. They are expected to finish the dissertation within four years.

Your profile
Candidates are expected to hold a Master’s degree in economics (with excellent grades) or be close to completion of their Master’s studies. They should have a strong interest in monetary or macroeconomics and ideally have coding and applied econometrics skills.

We offer You
• Write a dissertation in monetary or macroeconomics supervised by the macroeconomists in the department,
• Assist with lectures and seminars at the Bachelor's and Master’s level, and
• Work in a stimulating research environment.
• Likely starting date: January 1, 2022.

Contact
For further information, please contact Luca Benati, Pierpaolo Benigno, Cyril Monnet, or Dirk Niepelt.

Application
Please send your application package (cover letter, CV, transcripts) to fiona.scheidegger@vwi.unibe.ch. Applications will be processed until the position is filled.